ATT: Tracy Villarias,

Claim for Refund - Order No 181017862817 for 17th October 2018

I wish to inform you that the vehicle I purchased from Ibc Japan Ltd under Order No 181017862817 was finally released from port of Mombasa on 1st April, 2019. The cause of that long delay was because the vehicle arrived without Certificate of Road Worthiness (CoRW). This is a serious offence in Kenya if the country of origin has a Kenya Bureau of Standards (KEBS) inspection agent. Thailand has. The options given to me were either to return the vehicle to the exporter or pay hefty fines. I opted to pay the fines. As a result I incurred the following additional expenses:

1. KES183,466 - KEBS fine
2. KES 8,600 - Ministry of Roads Inspection Levies
3. KES 230,000 - Port storage charges

Total = KES 422,066 (USD 4,220)

If the vehicle had arrived with CoRW I could not have incurred any extra expenses. I therefore with due respect request that IBC Japan refund me 50% of these expenses that amount to USD 2,110. I think that would be fair enough.

Yours,

Samuel Machua
