PROTECT YOUR CARGO!! PLEASE READ

At IBC Japan, we understand the cost and loss that vandalism and theft of cargo can cause. We take great care to make sure that your vehicles are described accurately and delivered to you in the condition indicated on our checklists.

Vandalism and theft of accessories, inner cargoes, parts, and damages are out of IBC's control after a vehicle is loaded on a vessel. All shipping companies have a tally sheet (report) of important accessories, parts, and any major damage at the time of loading in Japan.

In recognizing our responsibility in providing excellent customer experience, we are providing you our Loss and Damage Claim guidelines to improve the efficiency of your claims with the shipping company;

1. Arrange for a joint physical inspection of the vehicle together with a representative from the shipping agent, a CFS representative (for container shipment), port handling contractor (for RORO), or surveyor to document any loss or damage prior to removing the vehicle from the port to assess damage.
2. Request for a copy of Cargo Receipt, Dock Receipt or Vehicle Condition Report that may indicate the true condition of the vehicle prior to unloading, preferably prepared at point of loading in Japan.
3. Take pictures highlighting the damage or loss.
4. Indicate nature of damage on the receipt before signing. Please be sure to notify IBC Japan regarding the loss or damage not later than three (3) days after delivery. The longer you leave your cargo on the port the higher the risk that vandalism or theft will occur.
5. Submit your claim to the ship's local agent and notify us in Japan by sending a copy of your request to ibcclaims@ibcjapan.co.jp.
6. For efficient handling of your claim request, it is important that you attach the following documents:
 - a. Copy of the Bill of Lading (BL);
 - b. Cargo Receipt, Dock Receipt or Vehicle Condition Report; and
 - c. Surveyor' Report with original photos.

Providing this information with your claim to the ship's local agent will result in most claims being recognized and paid by the shipping company. The contact information of the shipping line's local agent can be found on your copy of the BL. If not provided therein, we can also secure the said information for you. Please also review the Disclaimer provided in the said document. The shipping company is responsible for the cargo after it is loaded, and if the claims are documented appropriately you stand a much better chance of getting compensated. If you try and claim after the vehicle is removed from the port your claim will never be considered as valid in the absence of proof of where the loss or damage occurred as it is impossible to prove.

IBC Japan will assist you in dealing with the shipping companies, but please understand that unless the theft or damage happened prior to loading in Japan there is little IBC Japan can do to assist, and those losses are not included in our claims policy. Please be guided accordingly.

Best Regards,

IBC Japan
